IV. Motivation Letter (600 word limit)

My main motivation is definitely working in the field that enables me to reach out and be a part of the big family of the UN. In my current job as a National Operational Manager (NOM) where I am assigned to deal with the grassroots, stakeholders, government ministries, churches, different NGOs etc. The NOM role is directed exposure to decision-making processes and strategies fostered my interest in working on humanitarian issues, human rights and operational management level and also at the field level.

My interest in international cooperation started at a young age because I am from a very international family. This has led me to excel in different field of studies and also living at different countries. This empowers my level of comprehension in the diversities of cultures and languages which broaden my knowledge. Personally and professionally: Personally: new cultures, languages, patience, respect for diversity and so on. Professionally: how to manage a program, how to fit in a big organisation and in different countries with a different cultures. I also develop skills like teamwork, communication and negotiation that are essential to work in the field. Probably the most important is that I discovered a real passion for this field and that I was then certain I wanted to continue carrying the task in that direction. I chose to apply to this job because I want to help people and also use my formal academic background in the field of human rights. It inspires me to apply for this job gives the possibility of working in an environment where the outcome of what I will do is important for the people as whole and they profit. I also find it fascinating and incredibly enriching and the possibility of working in a challenging environment where part of the job is the job itself and part of it is to transfer knowledge and skills so the people can help themselves. It can be a tough job but in the sense of personal achievement can be enormous too. It is a self satisfaction.
