

I, [REDACTED], declare the following to the best of my knowledge:

1. I was born on June 24th, 1985 in El Salvador.
2. On Monday, July 25th of 2016 I crossed to border to the United States from Mexico around 5PM through the Rio Grande with my 11 year old son.
3. I got off the raft that was used to bring me to the other side of the river and was told to find a road and walk.
4. I arrived at the road and walked about 15 minutes when I saw a patrol car that was white with green lines on it.
5. I was so grateful to see someone come toward me and my son because it meant we had been found and we wouldn't have to keep walking after such a lengthy journey.
6. A man in his 40s that was by himself in the car got out of the car and told me and my son in Spanish to move to the side and asked me to face him.
7. He asked us to take off the sweaters we were wearing and said he wanted to see what we brought.
8. He asked me what I brought in my brassiere and I took out all I brought: a small wallet and personal documents.
9. He then pulled the collar of my shirt, looked inside and took out a flashlight that he pointed inside my shirt to shine on my breasts.
10. It was clear that I did not have anything else on me but he then placed the flashlight between his neck and his shoulder so her could hold it hands free and proceeded to put his hands through the collar of my shirt to put his hands under my brassiere and touch my breasts.
11. I was in shock and my son looked at me and said 'mom, he touched your breasts'. I felt humiliated and violated. It would have never occurred to me that such a thing could happen in America.
12. He then asked me if more people were coming and I said yes.
13. When more people arrived, more people in patrol cars did too.
14. Although people were asked for what they brought, no officer took out a flashlight to examine people's bodies and nobody was touched in the way I was touched.
