What is a panel?

A panel is an event where experts (including children as experts in their own lives!) share opinions on a topic and the audience can ask questions and make comments

What is the UN convention on the Rights of the child?

Article 28

Article 29

It is a list of promises that almost every government in the world has made to every child in their country.

These promises are also called rights of children, and include things like the right to a free and good education that teaches them to understand their own rights, and to respect other people's rights, cultures and differences.

Why is this topic important?

Every child has the right to live in peace and feel safe. Our leaders should make sure that children's rights are protected, and help them learn about the importance of respecting others and treating everyone fairly.

Children play an important role in making their communities peaceful by being understanding towards others and solving problems together.

Education should:

- ★ Be easy for everyone to get
- ★ Be fair for all
- ★ Treat everyone equally
- ★ Teach children skills like respect and understanding to prevent future conflicts

The panel will focus on the importance of making sure all children have access to good quality education that promotes peace and understanding

What will happen next?

By sharing ideas, problems, and wins, the information from this event will help create a report that supports countries in including these important lessons in their education programs

A report is an important document that has a detailed plan with suggestions for countries
