

As we try to meet the technological demands of an ever changing world that demands greater emphasis on Science and Math, we cannot allow colonizers to actively erase the historic contributions of people of African Descent. Nor can we allow them to bury our collective pain in place of white comfort.

Currently in the United States, state after state are adopting policies that are sanitizing History and choosing to tell our story through the lens of our oppressors.

I am asking the Global Diaspora to help keep governments (like mine) choosing to engage in the practice of historical erasure, accountable and continue to uplift our story and speak truth to power.
