Objectives of the module

- Become familiar with the various components of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights' Resource Package on Promoting the Rights of Persons with Disabilities through the Sustainable Development Goals.
- Gain an understanding of the current situation in terms of the barriers persons with disabilities face in cities and urban settlements.
- Identify concrete steps that policymakers can take to guarantee inclusive cities and communities in the process of implementing Sustainable Development Goal 11 with a disability rights lens.
- Obtain additional information to support the implementation of measures to ensure inclusive cities and communities in their own context.

Models of disability

Charity Model of Disability

- People with impairments perceived as objects of benevolence who cannot take care of themselves.
- Conditions participation to receiving "help" or charity.
- Having impairments is seen as a curse or punishment.

Medical Model of Disability

- People with impairments seen throughout history as persons who are sick or subjects of rehabilitation.
- Reduces persons to their impairment and conditions participation to being rehabilitated or "fixed" to meet societal norms and to fit back into society.

Ableism

"[A] value system that considers certain typical characteristics of body and mind as essential for living a life of value. Based on strict standards of appearance, functioning and behaviour, ableist ways of thinking consider the disability experience as a misfortune that leads to suffering and disadvantage and invariably devalues human life".

Special Rapporteur on the rights of persons with disabilities, Report on the impact of ableism in medical and scientific practice, A/HRC/43/41, 2019
