VIII. PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES (Granted since 2008)

- PM 103/08 Francisco Soberón Garrido and other members of APRODEH² (Available at: <http://www.cidh.org/medidas/2008.eng.htm>)
- PM 10/09 – Wong Ho Wing³. (Available at: <http://www.cidh.org/medidas/2009.eng.htm>)
- PM 199/09 – 300 Inhabitants of Puerto Nuevo⁴

IX. PRESS RELEASES

- 41/09 - Office of the Special Rapporteur for Freedom of Expression Expresses Concern over the Situation of Radio in Peru. Washington, D.C., June 27, 2009. (Available at: <http://www.cidh.oas.org/relatoria/showarticle.asp?artID=751&IID=1>)

² On May 21, 2008, the IACHR granted precautionary measures for human rights defenders Francisco Soberón Garrido, Juan Miguel Jugo Viera and other members of APRODEH. The request seeking precautionary measures alleges that various state agencies had made statements and taken measures intended to intimidate APRODEH, particularly Francisco Soberón Garrido and Juan Miguel Jugo Viera, the executives of that institution. The request also states that, starting in April 2008, a number of APRODEH members had been the target of threats and other forms of harassment. The Commission asked the Peruvian state to take the measures necessary to guarantee the life and physical integrity of the beneficiaries and to report on the measures taken to prevent administrative and judicial means from being used to obstruct the human rights work done by APRODEH. The Commission continues to monitor the situation.

⁴ On December 27, 2010, the IACHR called for the adoption of precautionary measures to protect the life and personal integrity of 300 inhabitants of Puerto Nuevo Callao in Peru. According to the information furnished, activities involving the warehousing and transport of lead have seriously compromised the health of 300 inhabitants of the Puerto Nuevo human settlement, and have high levels of that substance in their blood. It is alleged that the lead poisoning victims lack the appropriate medical care in terms of diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of illness. Moreover, it has been noted that the actions undertaken by the State to protect the inhabitants of Puerto Nuevo from the effects of lead poisoning have not been effective in reducing their risk of exposure. Consequently, the Commission required the Peruvian State to adopt the necessary measures with a view to suspending lead warehousing and transport activities in Puerto de Callao until such time as it is able to adopt, inter alia, measures to effectively eliminate the situation of environmental contamination, relocate the population, or provide for an alternative lead warehousing site; to adopt the necessary measures to provide specialized medical diagnostic services for the beneficiaries as well as appropriate and specialized medical treatment to those whose diagnosis indicates a risk of irreparable harm to their personal integrity or life; and to continue adopting the necessary measures to mitigate harm to the environment.
