Recommendation

- Urge the government of Fiji and the Ministry of Women, Ministry of Youth and the Ministry of Education to take into serious consideration the issues that affect Women, Youth and Children with Disabilities.

Conclusion

The association and its members are indeed grateful to the service providers and disability organisation for providing services to persons with disabilities with limited resources. We also acknowledge the measures taken by government to establish the Fiji National Council for Disabled Persons and for endorsing the Fiji Disability Policy.

However we realise that the Fiji National Council for Disabled Persons has gone beyond its roles as stated in the FNCDP Act of 1994. The Fiji Disability Policy needs to be distributed to relevant stakeholders and awareness programmes must be conducted so that the people of Fiji are aware of this policy and adequate resources must be allocated for the implementation of this policy.
